Art Unit: 3679

1. The text of those sections of Title 35, U.S. Code not included in this action can be found in a prior Office action.

2. The indicated allowability of claims 4, 5 & 7 is withdrawn in view of the newly discovered references. Rejections based on the newly cited references follow.

Specification

3. The disclosure is objected to because in paragraph 0016 (as amended May 13, 2005), line 3, the phrase "the cam 26 are" should be changed to "the cams 26 are".

Claim Objections

4. Claim 3-5, 7 & 8 are objected to because each depends from a cancelled claim.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

5. Claims 1 & 3 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Montgrand, US 1,865,559. Figs. 2 & 3 show a transmission and torque limiting assembly comprising: a driven member 1 for rotation by a drive about an axis; a drive member 6, 7 disposed about and coaxial with the driven member; and a mechanism for transmitting rotation from the drive member to the driven member and for disengaging the drive member from the driven member in response to a predetermined reactive force between the members. Figs. 2 & 3 show the mechanism comprises: posts 2 axially extending from the drive member; spring arms 8 extending resiliently and spirally from the driven member; and cams 4 pivotally attached to distal ends thereof for engaging the posts for transmitting rotation to the driven member from the drive member.

6. Claim 1, 3, 4, 5 & 7 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Orwin, US 3,203,524.

a. Claim 1. Figs. 1-5 show a transmission and torque limiting assembly 20 comprising: a driven member 21, 22 for rotation by a drive about an axis 19; a drive member 23 disposed about and coaxial with the driven member; and a mechanism for transmitting rotation 29 (see Fig. 2) from the drive member to the driven member and for disengaging (see Fig. 5) the drive member from the driven member in response to a predetermined reactive force (see also col. 6, lines 4-8) between the members. Figs. 1-5 show the mechanism comprises: posts 33 axially extending (see also "each cylindrical bar 3 extends parallel to the axis of rotation" in col. 4, lines 26 & 27) from the drive member; spring arms 42 extending resiliently and spirally from the driven member 21, 22; and cams 26 pivotally attached to distal ends thereof for engaging the posts 33 for transmitting rotation to the driven member from the drive member.

b. Claim 3. Fig. 2a shows the transmission and torque limiting assembly includes a pivot 44, 45 pivotally connecting one of the cams 26 to each of the distal ends.

c. Claim 4. Figs. 1-5 show the transmission and torque limiting assembly includes a stop pin 46 carried by each of the cams 26 for reacting with the adjacent distal end to limit pivotal movement (see also col. 5, lines 17 & 18) to maintain each cam in a locked position for permitting transmission of rotation.

Art Unit: 3679

- d. Claim 5. Figs. 1-5 show each cam 26 includes a recess (see "recess" in col. 3, line 73) for receiving (via the roller 36) a selected one of the posts 33.
 - e. Claim 7. Figs. 1 & 3 show the drive member 23 is a pulley with a planar face, the posts 33 extending axially from the planar face.
7. Claims 1, 3 & 4 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Richards, US 2,444,530. Fig. 7 shows a show a transmission and torque limiting assembly 20 comprising all the limitations of the claims.

Allowable Subject Matter

8. Claim 8 would be allowable if rewritten to overcome the objection set forth in this Office action and to include all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.
9. Claim 9 is allowed.
